WEBSITE PRIVACY POLICY

This privacy policy sets out how “GridSmart Ltd” uses and protects any information when you use our applications or services. “GridSmart Ltd” is committed to ensuring that your privacy is protected. Should we ask you to provide certain information by which you can be identified when using our services, then you can be assured that it will only be used in accordance with this privacy statement.

GridSmart Limited (hereinafter referred to as “GridSmart” “us” “we” or “our”) is committed to respecting your privacy and to comply with applicable data protection and privacy laws. You can visit our websites without disclosing any personally identifiable information about yourself.

If you do submit personal information by ordering products, or services, for example, you can be assured that we will use your personal information only to support your continuing relationship with GridSmart.

We have provided this Privacy Policy Statement to help you understand how we collect, use and protect your information when you visit our websites and when you generally use our products and services.

Personal Information Collection

We endeavour to collect and use your personal information only with your knowledge and consent and typically when you order and subsequently use products and services, make customer enquiries, request product information or when you respond to communications from us.

The type of personal information we may collect could include, for example, your name and postal address, telephone numbers, email address. If you choose to provide us with personal information it will be used in support of the intended purposes stated at the time at which it was collected, and subject to any preferences indicated by you.

Non-personal Identifying Information

From time to time, we may also use your information to contact you for product support marketing purposes. We may contact you by email, phone or mail.

Cookies Statement

Like many other web sites GridSmart use cookies on our websites. Cookies can help a website to personalise your visit. A cookie is a text-only string of information that a website transfers to the cookie storage of the browser in use so that the website can, among other things, remember who you are. A cookie will typically contain the name of the domain from which the cookie has come, the “lifetime” of the cookie, and a value, usually a randomly generated unique number.

GridSmart Cookies

When you use GridSmart websites, you may be sent the following types of cookies, which will be used for the following purposes:

Session cookies – for our online forms we may use session cookies to pass information such as progress from one page of a web form to the next.

Statistics cookies – the statistics cookies provide GridSmart with general and not individually-specific
